WEDNESDAY RED CROSS DAY

AT THE COUNTY FAIR tage of Receipts Go to Local Chapter—Motorcycle Races Also.

Wednesday is the day that should bring out a crowd at the county fair for that day is designated in the programme as Red Cross day end on that day a generous percentage of the receipts will be turned over to the Red Cross. Since the aims of this society are known to everybody it is needless to expatiate upon the noble work which the organisation is doing and has been doing over in Europe since the earliest days of the war. With countless thousands of our own brave boys going over to France to do their bit in ridding the world of the cankering sore that has eaten into the peace of the world in the form of the Teutonic autocracy it is only a little one can do by going out and doing their bit by helping to make Red Cross Day one of the biggest of the three days. The booth of the local branch of the society was the center of attraction during the day in the exhibition hall where some of the local young lady members were demonstrating the making of the different pads, compresses and bandages needed in the hospitals "somewhere in France." Turn out and get to the fair. Do your bit for the Red Cross. Maybe some of our boys will be offering up a prayer for the -Motorcycle Races Also. aybe some of our boys will be of-ring up a prayer for the people hose efforts helped to bring to the out the necessary articles to ease s pain, not in the very distant fuone of the best in the line of amusement for the two five-mile championship motorcycle races are to be run off that day. Riders who have been seen before burning up the local track in the races held previously are Wild Bill Burdick, a Norwich boy, and Howard Sterry, also of this city. From out of town are entered Noble R. Steves and Frank Crocker of Boston, Earl Gore of Brockton, and Ted Edwards of Bridgeport. Some of these boys have been seen before on the track and their speed is known. Late Monday, C. V Pendleton, who is looking after the cycle races, received a telegram from Baltimore, Md., "Enter Verrill and Mears in the races." These boys while known by reputation to many cycle riders are probably unknown to many outside the fraternity but the fact that they are entered is assurance that the races are ming to be well worth watching. entered is assurance that the races are going to be well worth watching. Don't forget that Wednesday is the day to help the Red Cross and to see o help the Red Cross and to see est motorcycle races held in the n some time.

at the Eitinge Theatre, New York, and an almost equally long run at the Cort Theatre, Chicago, at the Davis Theatre Friday evening.

Avery Hopwood, author of this farce classic, is also author of "Seven Days" and "Nobody's Widow," and started the long-run-farce on the career it has never since abandoned. So Mr. Hopwood is fairly entitled to his rank as America's first master of farce-writing.

Selwyn & Company, "Fair and Warmer's" producers, have established Warmer's" producers, have established their reputation as pickers of winners by "Within the Law", "Twin Beds", Margaret Illington in "The Lie", Jane Cowl in "Lilac Time" etc. When they followed this array of successes with "Fair and Warmer" the wiseacres said "Trust the Selwyns."

In "Fair and Warmer", Avery Hopwood uses just the idea he knows how to put through its paces—a satiric and wood uses just the idea he knows how to put through its paces—a satiric and richly humorous complication arising from the fact that two most respectable young persons try to be wicked without knowing how, and end by covering themselves with ignominy, while the pair at whom they aimed their wickedness, as retallation, went joynusly scot free.

Shaltering Arms Services Conducted by Rev. A. W. Burdon and Chorus Choir-Labor Day Guests and Travelers-Personal Notes.

The service at the Sheltering Arms Sunday afternoon was in charge of Rev. A. W. Burdon of the Federated church, Greeneville, assisted by young people from its chorus choir. The opening hymns, He Leadeth Me and My Faith Look Up to Thee, were given heartly in the spirit of the words, Miss Grace Kern accompanying on the plane, with Miss Mildred Cass, Miss Elvina Levander, Andrew Levander and Henry Sebastian of the choir, H. and Henry Sebastian of the choir, H.
I. Peckham, director.
Rev. Mr. Burdon took for his subject Jesus Christ and Him Crucified.
He said: It was remarked of the great preacher Spurgeon that he preached the same thing all the time. Someone coming to him with the criticism, Mr.
Spurgeon said it was true, he did preach all the time on the same subject Christ and Him crucified. There is nothing better than preaching in word and in act the blessed gospel of the Master who come to bring peace on earth. Christ saw the blessedness of His close relation to the Father, He saw Himself divinely setn to save the of His close relation to the Father, He saw Himself divinely setn to save the world. Christ saw as His disciples ply was unequivocally in the affirmacould not see it the world's great need of the power of the living God. Out of His great heart of love Christ has set us free from sin and has seen for us the robs of righteousness that will make the soul beautiful.

In closing Rev. Mr. Burdon gave as a solo Is It Well With My Soul? This custom of the helpful hour Sabbath afternoon has grown dear to the mem-bers of the household, and as one of them said Sunday: "It seems as though I could not do without it, for I cannot get out to thurch."

It is stated that Miss Florence Ben nett of Vergason avenue, for some time past principal of Jordan school, Waterford, will be principal this year

WE FAIL TO WIN THIS WAR?" Interview With President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale University.

President Arthur T. Hadley of Yale University has been interviewed by a representative of the Connecticut State Council of Defense, under the plan of "Made-in-Connecticut War Interviews," being carried out by the council. He entertains strong views on the gravity of the crisis facing this country; and his interest in the cause is more than academic, as he has furnished to the service his two sons, Major Morris Hadley of the Field Artillery and Lieutenant Hamilton Hadley and Lieutenant Hamilton Hadley of the Signal corps.

"What is likely to happen if we fall to win this war " was the significent question put to President Hadley at the outset.

"A series of wars," was his prompt reply, "begun without hotice and wag-of non-combatants."

When asked for his grounds for this opinion he continued, "Because leading men in Germany believe that war is a good thing for their country and for the world and should be conducted without scruple when the interests of Germany seem to require it."

"Do the German people in general share this view?" he was asked.

"Not entirely," was his reply, "but the German people in general are so no relation that they are content to de

Blessed relief from corn pains is simple as A B C with "Gets-It."

When you've been imping around for days trying to get away from a neart-drilling corn or bumpy callous, and everything you've tried has only made it worse, and then you put some "Gets-It" on and the pain cases right away, and the oorn peels right off like a banana skin—"ain't it a grand and heavenly feeling?"

"Gets-It" has revolutionized the corn history of the world. Millions use it and it never fails. Ladies wear smaller shoes and have pain-tree feet. We old fellows and young fellows forget our toes and feel frisky as coits. Everybody with a corn or callous needs "Gets-It." We will all walk about and enjoy ourselves as we did without corns. FEGAR. I come from the wild waste places; my lair is under the night;
I prowied round the theives of creation ero the Lord God made the light;
Up the long path of the ages my ory is confusion and strife;
I am the Shadow that follows the weaker children of Life.

Brom me they have fied to the Father and crouched round the altar stone;
Since the angels sang in the morning I am the vast Alone;
From me through the hollows of heaven the voice of the thunder is hurled;
I am the horror of waters that rolled o'er the infant world.

As a mist from the murshes of evening it rise, and spread as a pall; I am the tall, dark structure that is ever about to fall; I stand round the pillows of alumber the specter of evils forgot; I bring from the chasms of waking the burden of things that are not.

of panic and war:

Ere the Thing arrives in the market is am the Shadow before:

I gloom round the high endeavor; I halt the march of the plan;

I am the wave that crases the strength of the soul of a man. I am the night of the mind; when the light has gone out I am there. I hang out the high name of God on the front of the Gates of Bernal I drive the strong man as a size of the acund of his waking when I flee from his terrible brights and disappear at his word.

THE KALEIDOSCOPE An Athens message states that several adhesions to the Liberal party are announced from the deputies of the new provinces, with the result that the supporters of M. Venizeles hold over 220 out of the 300 seats which have so far been filled.

Our Rome correspondent states that the German Protestant Rectory school built at the kaiser's expense and from his plans, and completed on the eve of the war, was occupied yesterday by Italian soldiers. The premises will be used by the ministry of war. Vienna is now receiving little more than a fourth of its normal supply of milk, and, says Die Zeit, 70 per cent of what is received is sour, owing to the heat and delay in transportation. After the needs of children and sick persons have been satisfied there is scarcely any milk left. The federal government has decided to curtail horse racing in New South Wales by 50 per cent. Similar regu-lations will probably be applied to other states. Boxing is to be limited in each state to a maximum of one contest fortnightly and one mixed
